The Hungary International Logistics Show is an international platform showcasing the full diversity of the logistics industry. It connects enterprises, markets and solutions, and opens up new perspectives for business cooperation across Central-Eastern Europe and beyond.

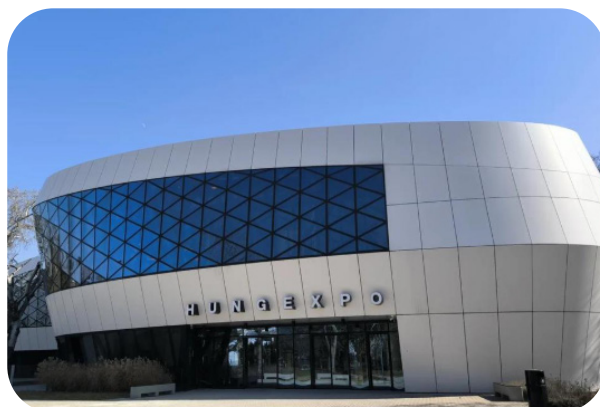

As a gateway between Eastern and Western markets, Budapest brings together all transport modes including road, rail, air, sea and intermodal transport. Covering services, products and innovative research outcomes, this exhibition offers attendees a comprehensive display of current industry trends and forward-looking solutions.

Koper, Trieste and Rijeka are the key port exhibitors. Koper features high-frequency rail services with priority on transit time, catering to mainstream cargo flows to Hungary. Trieste boasts deep-water port facilities together with free-port tax-exemption policies, alongside a dedicated terminal project for Hungary, targeting bulk cargo, oil products and large-volume container shipments. Rijeka focuses on ample land reserves and new terminal expansion, serving cross-border cargo originating from eastern Hungary and the Balkans.

Covering an exhibition area of 10,000 square metres, this event serves as an emerging core industry gathering in Central-Eastern Europe and is set for sustained growth.

Hungary's logistics market continues to grow

Hungary

Situated in the heart of Europe, Hungary is a strategic logistics hub connecting Western, Eastern and Balkan markets. Its superior location and mature road and rail networks make it a key cargo distribution center in Central and Eastern Europe. China-Hungary trade ties continue to grow. Bilateral trade volume reached USD 20.8 billion in 2025, up 28% year-on-year. As Hungary's top foreign investor for three consecutive years, China has driven robust logistics demand via local production and warehousing investments. Hosting the EU's third-largest China Railway Express freight volume, Budapest serves as a core Eurasian logistics node. Booming cross-border e-commerce enables Budapest Airport to distribute 94% of its e-commerce cargo to Central-Eastern Europe and the EU. Rising needs for cold chain, warehousing and distribution offer huge market opportunities for logistics players.

The Hungary International Logistics Show brings together full-spectrum logistics solutions. Across ten well-defined zones, it showcases land, sea, air and multimodal transport options.
