HUNGARY BUILD WEEK

Hungary Build Week is a joint exhibition comprising four major events: Hotel Restaurant Catering, Hungary International Heating, water supply, Ventilation, Air Conditioning, Refrigeration, sanitary & Home Comfort System Expo, Hungary International Construction Exhibition, Europe International Property Show. As the emerging international trade fair for building materials and construction technology in Central and Eastern Europe. It covers the full spectrum of the industry — structural materials, sanitary ware, doors, windows and curtain walls, HVAC, decorative materials and smart buildings — providing a one-stop platform for building material manufacturers, traders, architects and project procurement specialists. Hungary is at the start of a new upswing in the construction market: residential construction and renovation are driving growth hand in hand, while the EU Energy Performance of Buildings Directive and multiple national subsidy programmes continue to unlock demand. As the bellwether of the CEE construction market, Budapest reaches a consumer hinterland of more than 400 million people. the fair is the ideal gateway for building material companies to enter the CEE market and connect with regional construction projects.

Driving renovation across Europe

Hungary's construction market is on the recovery track

12,062 new homes were completed nationwide in 2025, while building permits and simplified filings rose to 28,081, up 37% year on year — a recent high. The industry expects the market to expand steadily at 3%–3.5% in 2026, signalling the start of a new construction cycle.

The EU Energy Performance of Buildings Directive (EPBD) is driving renovation across Europe making energy efficiency the industry's central theme. EU recovery funds and regional funding continue to flow into infrastructure, with Hungary's railway fund at approx. EUR 2 billion and energy projects at approx. EUR 1 billion, providing long-term support for building material demand.

Policy support is being rolled out intensively in 2025 the Hungarian government launched the Home Renovation Programme (budget approx. EUR 181 million), the Village Renovation Programme and the Home Start Programme, and has offered state-subsidised home loans at a fixed rate of 3% since September 2025 (available for new builds and first homes), strongly boosting residential construction and renovation demand.

China-Hungary economic and trade cooperation continues to deepen bilateral trade reached approx. USD 20.8 billion in 2025, up 28% year on year, and China has been Hungary's largest source of foreign investment for three consecutive years. With the China-Europe rail corridor and the Budapest hub, Chinese building materials can reach the CEE market efficiently, providing solid supply chain support for exhibitors.
